GOOD ROADS ASSOCIATION.

Few States in the South have exhibited more activity during the past six months in "Good Roads" work than has North Carolina, particularly Western North Carolina, and it is believed that the work of the North Carolina Good Roads Association has been largely instrumental in awakening this interest and activity. The annual convention for 1912 was held in Charlotte and was largely attended, there being between 300 and 400 delegates. Since that convention met, counties and townships in Western North Carolina have issued about $1,300,000 in bonds for good roads. Most of the Piedmont and Eastern counties which have considered bond issues during this period have not regarded them favorably; and for this reason it has been thought wise by the Executive Committee of the North Carolina Good Roads Association to hold this convention in the eastern part of the State.

There are still a great many questions in connection with the "Good Roads" work in our State which need to be worked out, and it is by getting together and discussing these matters that the work is advanced and possibly many errors obviated.

A great many local road bills were enacted by the General Assembly of 1913 relating to road work in various counties and townships, but no State legislation was passed, and it is thought by those who have given this subject much study that the "Good Roads" cause will not advance as it should without some State aid, certainly to the extent of furnishing engineering assistance to the counties. At the present time the North Carolina Geological and Economic Survey has about thirty applications for engineering assistance, which it is unable to fill on account of lack of appropriation. Many townships issue bonds for a certain amount of money, but do not feel justified in spending this for a road engineer on account of the small amount of money they are thus able to obtain.

The State, by furnishing an engineer, would enable the township or county to get the greatest good from its bond issue, and could furnish the county or township better engineering work than it could by employing an engineer temporarily.
